

Megan Davis and team invite you to an

After Party

Wow, that was quite a week. You know how, when you get home from a vacation, you still need a vacation to recover from it? Well, welcome to the After Party, to help you recover from all those daily parties.

All the daily parties might start to blur in your memory, so now's a good time to check your handy invitation. When you look back on the ordered list of responses, you realize that everyone brought a "plus one." As you mingle with these guests, you figure out where everyone came from.

The only question that remains is:
Where can we meet next?
